Description

Being Sold via Secure Sale online bidding. Terms & Conditions apply. Starting Bid £240,000

This stunning Grade II listed Georgian cottage sits right on the waterfront at Swanwick Shore Road, where the River Hamble becomes part of your everyday life. Dating from 1710-1830, it's one of those special properties that combines genuine period character with a location that holiday home buyers dream about. With two bedrooms and beautiful original features throughout, this cottage offers exceptional potential as a second home, holiday retreat, or successful Airbnb investment.

The moment you step inside, you'll notice how cleverly this cottage balances its historic roots with comfortable modern living. The living room is the heart of the home - a relaxing, cosy space where you can genuinely unwind after a windswept walk along the river. The exposed beam runs across the ceiling, whilst the brick fireplace houses a wood burner that creates exactly the atmosphere you'd want on a chilly evening. Through to the separate dining room, there's space for proper entertaining, and the layout works brilliantly for hosting family and friends.

The kitchen is where this cottage really surprises you. Whilst the original rooms have those characterful low ceilings, the kitchen opens up with a vaulted ceiling and exposed beams that flood the space with light. It's impossible not to feel happy when you're in here - the combination of white units, wooden worktops, pale blue tiling, and terracotta floor tiles creates a bright, airy space that feels miles away from the typical cottage kitchen. There's a lovely breakfast bar for morning coffee, and the whole room has been fitted with care and attention to detail.

Upstairs, the two bedrooms are both generous doubles, with the first bedroom featuring built-in wardrobes for excellent storage. The layout is interesting - one bedroom is accessed through the other, which actually works well for families or when you're letting the property to guests. The ground floor bathroom is something special, combining practical white suite and tiling with those same gorgeous exposed beams and brick details you find throughout the cottage.

Outside, the south-facing courtyard garden is completely secluded and catches the sun throughout the day. It's a genuinely large space with a hot tub already installed - perfect for relaxing after a day on the water or exploring the local area. The combination of privacy, sunshine, and that hot tub makes this outdoor space feel like a real holiday retreat. Parking is available via a car park within easy walking distance.

Lower Swanwick is a brilliant waterfront location that feels peaceful whilst keeping you well connected. You've got the Boathouse cafe and restaurant just moments away - perfect for lazy weekend brunches - plus Swanwick Marina and excellent local pubs nearby. Swanwick railway station provides regular services to Southampton, Portsmouth, and London, whilst the M27 is easily accessible for longer journeys. Local schools are outstanding, particularly Sarisbury Church of England Junior School, though for most buyers this cottage will be about escaping to the water rather than everyday family life.
